A group of approximately 15 people are seated around a long wooden conference table in a meeting room. The participants, including men and women of various ages, are focused on the discussion. The table is cluttered with documents, several bottles of Borsec water, and coffee cups. A woman in a dark jacket stands at the far end of the table, possibly presenting. The room features a Romanian flag on the wall and a large window with white curtains. A ceiling fan is visible above the group.
